Corrigendum: Japan 2026
Issued: November 2026
Link to report: https://www.iea.org/reports/japan-2026

On page 38, this sentence:
Japan's electricity mix is expected to shift substantially again in the coming years. In 2024, renewables supplied around 24% of electricity, nuclear 10% and fossil fuel based thermal power continued to provide the majority, supplying almost two thirds of all electricity.

Was replaced by this sentence:
Japan's electricity mix is expected to shift substantially again in the coming years. In 2024, renewables supplied around 23% of electricity, nuclear 9% and fossil fuel based thermal power continued to provide the majority, supplying almost two thirds of all electricity.

On page 39, this sentence:
Policy measures on coal, which supplied around 30% of electricity in 2024, focus on reducing electricity generation from inefficient coal units, restrictions on new unabated capacity, and increased co firing with biomass and ammonia (see the Fuels and Hydrogen sections for more details).

Was replaced by this sentence:
Policy measures on coal, which supplied around 29% of electricity in 2024, focus on reducing electricity generation from inefficient coal units, restrictions on new unabated capacity, and increased co firing with biomass and ammonia (see the Fuels and Hydrogen sections for more details).

On page 48, this sentence:
This share increased to around 24% in 2024.

Was replaced by this sentence:
This share increased to around 23% in 2024.