Welcome to the Carbon Capture Legal Programme

This site aims to provide a dedicated, up to date, open access and independent resource base on Carbon Capture and Storage (CCS), and is focussed on legal and regulatory issues, together with associated policy material. The site covers various arenas and jurisdictions with a view to promoting informed discussion and analysis by decision-makers in government, industry and the wider community. CCS is a new technology, which may well play a significant role in strategies for dealing with climate change.
